

Building an Energy Saving Stove in a round shaped mud Hut by Richard Jussel.

Oct 30, 2010 -

Building an energy³ saving stove live in a round shaped mud hut.

LOCATION: 3400 Klosterneuburg, Weidling, Schmalter Graben 22 House of Flo and Sara Date: 30th + 31st of October 2010, 8 am to 5 pm.

TOPIC: Building an energy saving stove with unburned clay bricks and self made clay mortar and clay plaster What is clay and the different ways of how to use clay.

TRAINING DOCUMENTS: Consist of drawings and photos with sketches, descriptions and measurements merged in a folder.

Costs: € 180 for 2 days, € 30 for being supported with vegetarian food, water, tea by Fam. Heilmann, donations for the film maker and photograph are requested Registration: 7 - 10 persons, to feuermacher@gmx.at, until the 23rd of September 2010

Richard Jussel, Hafnermeister, Klein Wetzles 35, 3920 Gr. Gerungs, Fon: 0281251128, mobil: 0664/73441799

email: feuermacher@gmx.at

web: www.feuermacher.com

This project is a non profit project and aims to enable the participants engaged with sensible tasks and activities all over the world to diminish the smoke from solid fuels in huts, houses and rooms, to enable cleaner kitchen environment, to protect especially women and children from getting sick caused by waste gas emitted by 3 stone fire places.